

Registered Apprenticeship combines on-the-job training from experienced workers, and related technical instruction (classroom learning) from industry leaders, to teach the practical and theoretical aspects of a skilled occupation. Each Registered Apprenticeship program is sponsored by an employer, an employer association, or a labor-management committee for one or more organizations.

The Registered Apprenticeship system provides full-time work for an apprentice during the training period, as well as adequate wages and quality instruction. A portable credential that is recognized nationally, and often globally, is issued to apprentices that complete a registered apprenticeship program.

Please locate the occupation of interest within the alphabetized column below to the far right. For additional information regarding the application process for the selected program, contact the registered apprenticeship sponsor using the provided phone number.

 The Ohio Department of Veterans Services, State Approving Agency (SAA), has approved these programs for military members to receive their educational benefits.
