

1 in 5 children are not ready for school in Logan County. You can help with your child's development. The more a child interacts, the more a child learns. Take time each day for one on one interaction with your child. Your child's success begins with you. (Liz Rose)

90% of the brain develops by age 6. Interaction with your child is the key to their success. Set aside time every day, even if it's only an hour to interact with your child. Remember play, listen, and laugh with your child. Your child's success begins with you. (Joy Badenhop)

(Parents) When playing with your child remember these simple tips to help your child learn: Let your child guide the play, respond without judgment, and physically join in to your child's activity. Go ahead have fun. Your child's success begins with you. (Donna Savage)

Young children learn through play. When playing with your child remember these simple tips to building language. Make the interaction playful and encourage your child to take turns, avoid asking questions, but repeat or add to the story your child is sharing. Your child's success begins with you. (Kate Andre)

Young children learn through play. Enjoy your child by joining in their play. Take time to be animated, play in the way your child plays, express affection, and remember to laugh and smile. Build a relationship with your child now that will last a lifetime. Your Child's success begins with you. (Vince Ciola)