Scarlett Boudier is new ODJFS Communications Director

ODJFS Director Helen Jones-Kelley announced Scarlett Boudier has joined the department as Deputy Director of the Office of Communications.

“Scarlett’s experience in communicating social service issues will be put to good use here,” said Jones-Kelley. “She will make an excellent addition to our team.”

Boudier, from Cleveland, has worked most recently as a consultant specializing in communication, advocacy and strategy development services. Previous to this, she served as the State Public Policy Director at the Ohio Alzheimer's Council, Vice President of Public Affairs at The Cleveland Film Commission, Public Affairs Director for Planned Parenthood of Greater Cleveland and Government Affairs Liaison for Cleveland Public Schools.

Boudier earned her bachelor’s degree in Political Science from The College of Wooster.
